

EXHAUST

FLAME OF BURNING FIRE

VOLCANO SIGH

When the noise is over
Smoke is in the air
Everything is going down the mountain
...to the seato the sea ...all you see is a
Volcano Sigh

Went a while together
The flame is burning down
Went a while together
And then back again
Almost made it to the goal
That has been too much... one step too far
...all that remains is a
Volcano Sigh

The Magma is boiling in the volcano's gorge Heat takes the breath away - breath away - breath away
But when the blast is coming soon
Anything gets burned that day
Lava burns everything away

And I was waiting and watched the signs
As the hot stream passes by - I was too close
Felt the heat and the temperature rising
Still it had a long long way
But it turned to stone that day

The eruption's over
Moving on and... turn to stone... it turned to stone
...all that remains is a
Volcano Sigh

..and the steam is becoming clear
